

HADEN OFFICE BUILDING NOW NEARLY READY

Boone County Trust Co. Will Probably Be Settled in New Quarters by July 1.

OTHER TENANTS NOW IN
Edifice Is Built by W. J. Carter
as Memorial to Joel H.
Haden, Former Owner of the Site.

The new Haden building, northeast corner of Ninth and Broadway, is practically completed and ready for occupancy. The Columbia Insurance and Rental Agency, which has its office on the first floor, has been located in the new building for over a month and the Hopper-Pollard Drug Co., also on the first floor, will probably be open for business tomorrow.

The Rosenthal School of Commerce will occupy an entire corner on the second floor and will probably take possession the latter part of this week. The rest of the second floor is arranged for business offices. There are twenty-one rooms on the second floor and all but five have been rented.

The Boone County Trust Co. will be the last to move in, according to W. J. Carter, who has given the bank a fifty year lease on the entire lower floor. It will probably be settled by July 1. The interior decorators finished their work on the bank Saturday and the fixtures will soon be installed.

Those who have rented offices on the second floor are: Dr. C. F. Elzea, dentist, three rooms; Waite & Wade, dentists, four rooms; Rosenthal School of Commerce, four rooms; Dr. Williams O. Fischer, physician, two rooms; T. Howard Groves, Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co., one room; and The Missouri Homestead, W. L. Nelson, editor, two rooms.

The Haden Building will be the most beautiful and modern office building in Columbia when entirely finished and the estimated cost of the building will be about $125,000, including all the fixtures. It is built of grey terra cotta with a Minnesota granite base and bronze trimming. The woodwork on the interior is of mahogany finish, with the exception of the bank, which will be of solid walnut, and the walls are tinted a cream and buff shade.

W. J. Carter, administrator of the Haden estate, has erected this edifice as a memorial to his grandfather, Joel H. Haden, who owned the ground where the present building now stands. The building is up-to-date and correct in every detail and Mr. Carter has made every effort to make this a monument of civic beauty for the residents of Columbia.

Twenty-two years ago the Haden Opera House, located on this corner, burned. A new three-story brick structure was immediately built on the present site as an office building and twenty years later it also burned. Whether these fires were of incendiary origin is not known, but after the second loss to the Haden estate, July 7, 1921, the present Haden building, which occurred on the night of February was started.

The heirs of the estate of Joel H. Haden are: Mrs. W. A. Bright, Joel W. Carter and W. J. Carter, all of Columbia; Mrs. R. L. Smith of Callaway County, R. T. Carter of Mexico, Mo., and Edward D. Carter, who lives seven miles east of Columbia.

POSTAL IMPROVEMENT WEEK HELPS SERVICE

Slots in Postoffice Labeled to Classify Mail and Insure Prompt Handling.

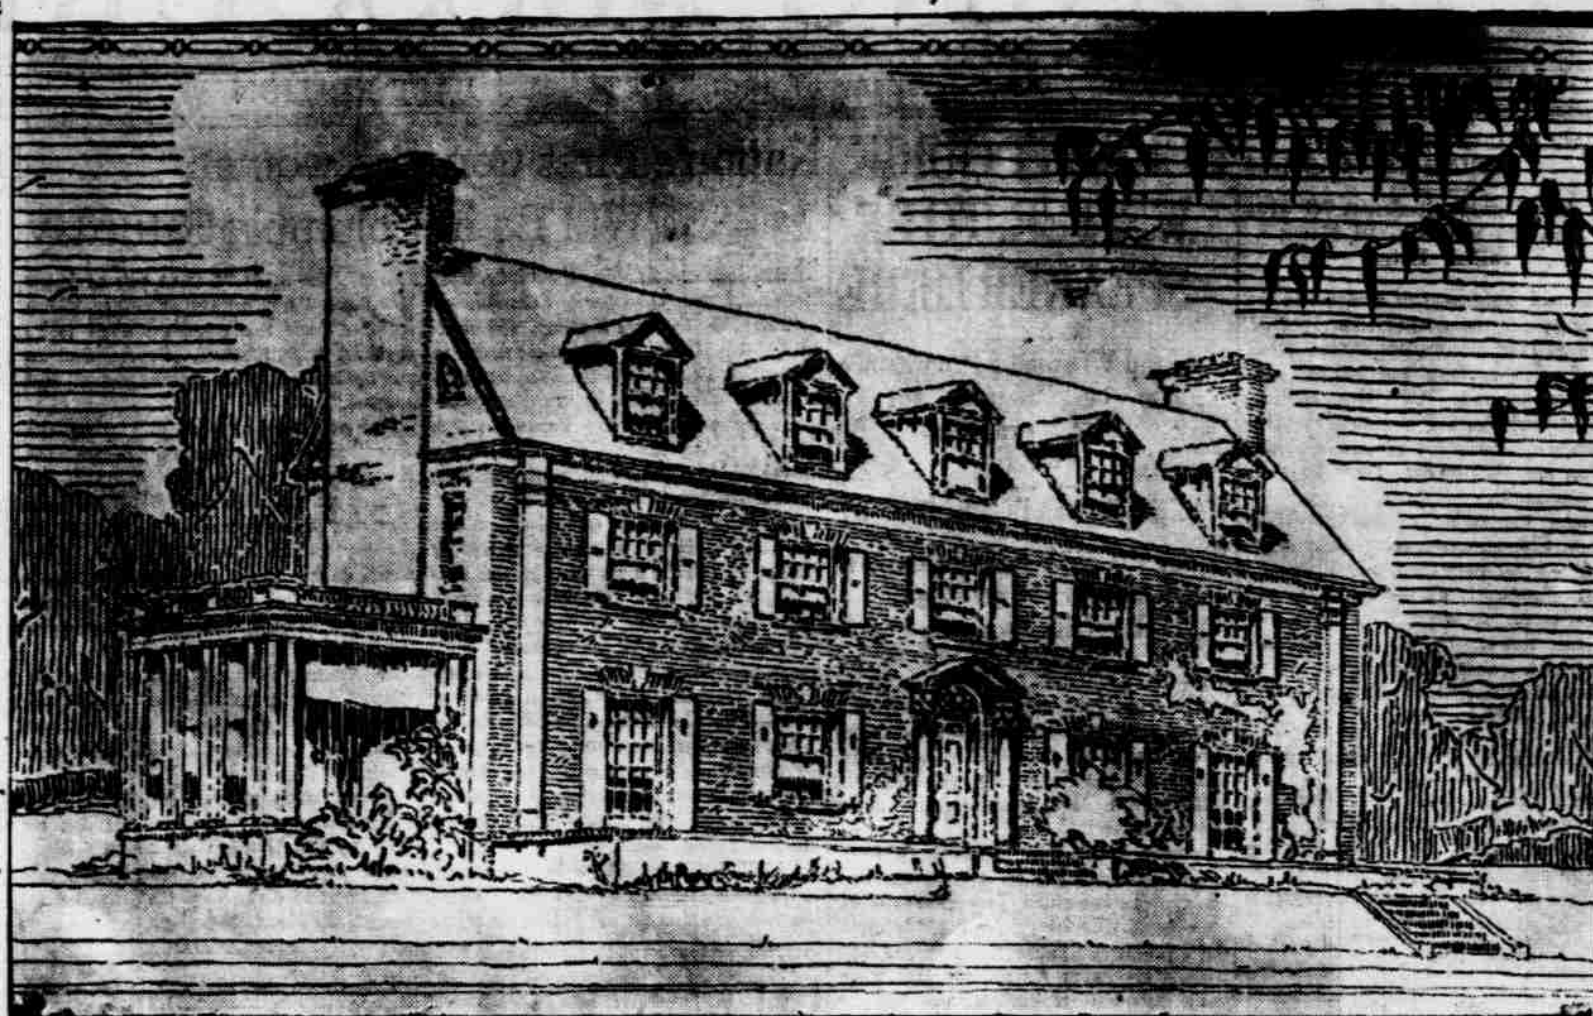

More prompt mail service in Columbia is the aim of the Columbia Postoffice in its local observance of the national Postal Improvement Week campaign. P. S. Woods, postmaster, and all the employees in the postal service here are asking the co-operation of the public in their effort to effect a faster service.

One of the first steps in the campaign was the labeling, Monday, of the three mailing slots in the postoffice. One slot is labeled, "State of Missouri Mail Only"; the second one, "Out of State Mail Only"; and the third, "Columbia Mail Only." Persons mailing letters are requested to drop them into the proper box. This facilitates prompt and systematic handling of the mails.

A series of posters, on display in the lobby of the postoffice, advocate co-operation between the postoffice and persons who send a large number of letters each day. The first request made is for early mailing. The habit of accumulating letters and mailing them all at the end of the day not only increases the work of the postoffice employees but makes efficient handling of the mails impossible. Separation of letters and bundles into Missouri, out of Missouri, and Columbia packages also is asked by the postal authorities here.

Instructions for properly addressing letters and packages are also printed on posters in the postoffice lobby. The postal authorities hope to standardize the form of address on posted communications of all kinds. Freak forms and fads make endless work for the postoffice workers who have to stamp the letters. Postal traffic in Columbia is abnormally heavy and Mr. Woods believes that co-operation between individuals and the postoffice is the surest method for making service efficient. He hopes that Postal Improvement Week will set a standard for every week in the year.

TWO BUILDINGS NOW GOING UP IN ROCHEPORT

Business Block Being Re-built
After Fire January 11—
Will Be One Story Structures.

WORK DELAYED BY RAIN

New Bank Building Will Stand on the Same Corner Occupied by the Old Structure.

Two buildings are now rising in the business block of Rocheport that was swept by fire last January 11—the new Rocheport Bank Building on the corner where the old one stood and next to it, on the former site of Dimmit's Drugstore, a new drugstore to be operated by Hourigan Brothers. Both buildings are to be one story brick structures measuring 20 by 70 feet.

The work began about two weeks ago, after long delay, on account of the weather, under the direction of George D. Crist, contractor, of Columbia; and it will probably be completed by July 1. The lumber and brick are being handled by F. E. Bysfield, local hardware and lumber dealer, whose hardware store was the only building in the devastated block to survive the fire. Rocheport labor is being used.

The bank has been in temporary quarters since the fire in the grocery store of W. T. Ridgway, across the street from its old location. Mr. Ridgway has given up the front part of his store to the bank while he himself has operated in the back. The cost of the new bank building is estimated at ten thousand dollars.

NEW POULTRY HOUSE

In the back room of the new bank, as in the old building, will be the poultry house of W. E. Magruder. Mr. Magruder has not been in business since the fire though he saved most of his stock.

Dr. W. E. Angell, whose office was on the second floor of the old bank building and who lost all his equipment in the fire, has made no effort to find any office other than his own residence.

The new drugstore is being erected by F. C. Dimmit on the site of his former place of business. Mr. Dimmit has decided to retire from the drug business; and he will rent the building to his successors, William and Bryan Hourigan, who were employed at the time of the fire in the Harris Department Store, the other one of the three establishments destroyed on January 11. The building will probably cost about five thousand dollars, and the Hourigan brothers plan to invest another five thousand in stock and fixtures.

Mr. Dimmit saved a small part of his stock from the flames, and he has been doing business on a small scale in his home. When the new store is completed, however, he intends to drop out of the drug business entirely except for the manufacture of his Witch Hazel Cream, the product which has made him so well known to Columbians. He has been in the drug business for fifty years and he is leaving to his successors one of the oldest drug businesses in the state. It was established in 1854 by Mr. Dimmit's father, the late B. F. Dimmit, who died in 1916.

Dr. E. L. Hiatt, dentist, whose office was over Dimmit's store and who, like Doctor Angell, lost all his equipment in the fire, has moved to Corder, Mo.

STOCK COMPANY MAY BE FORMED

The former site of the Harris Department Store is still covered with ruined masonry. J. B. Harris, the former proprietor, has left Rocheport. The building was owned by Louis Hoffman of Sedalia, brother of Prof. B. F. Hoffman of the University. There is a movement on foot to form a stock company to build another department store on this site.

The three buildings destroyed by last January's fire, with the exception of an addition on the north side of the department store, were all built in 1892, just after a similar fire had razed the business block of Rocheport, then situated between the river and the present location of the railroad tracks. The building which had housed the Rocheport Bank since it was founded in 1868 by Dr. W. S. Woods, perhaps best known through his connection with William Woods College, was burned at that time as was the building then occupied by the Dimmit drug business.

The M. K. & T. tracks were then being laid, so these two concerns rebuilt on the higher ground to the northward to avoid being caught between the railroad and the river.

At the same time, C. C. Dimmit, cousin of F. C. Dimmit, built the department store which stood just north of Dimmit's Drugstore, lately occupied by J. B. Harris. He sold out after having been in business for about seventeen years.

No trace of the old pre-1892 buildings can now be found on the site below the tracks.

Did they lather with Soapstone in the Neolithic Age?

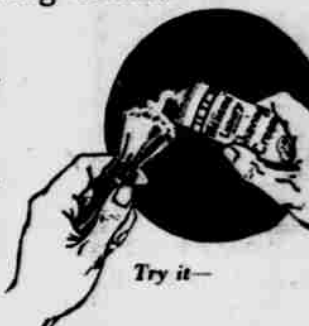

CAVE men had whiskers. Then one day John W. Troglydte hacked them off with a hunk of sharp bronze and discovered—that men had faces.

Faces are more popular than whiskers. Williams' helped. The J. B. Williams Company made the first real shaving soap ever manufactured in this country.

Jones' 77 used Williams'—no other. And now Jones' 22 uses one of the finest Williams' Shaving Soap that Williams knows how to make—Williams' Shaving Cream.

Lather? Rather. Rich and thick and quick. Once over is usually enough if you use Williams'.

You'll like the smooth, cool "feel" of your face afterward. No complexion soap is more wholesome.
